DAY 08 25Oct Sunday JUILONG – WUXUHAI – XINDUQIAO ( B/L/D)

Juilong is a relatively untravelled area, but has some of the best alpine scenery in this region. This early morning we shall drive to Wuxuhai Scenic Park and enjoy this unique alpine lake with Mt. Gongga as its’ backdrop. Subject to weather condition, enjoy the blue sky, the primeval forest, the lake, the clear water and the mountains together with the vival autumn colour in this unseen beauty.

Wuxu Lake is an idyllic scenic spot, flanked to the south by a long range of grey peaks called the 12 Sisters, and with an expanse of paddock leading down to the [as yet] unspoiled water edge. On the opposite side of the lake, the valley continues up to be lost in the snowy peaks of 18-20,000 foot high mountains. It’s all very Shangri La here......

Lunch at a local restaurant before driving back to Xinduqiao, along the way ... have some stops to enjoy photo taking of the landscape which is barren hills dotted with Tibetan fort-like houses, some with their old village watchtowers still remaining. The scenery around here is more wooded and the road follows a fast flowing tributary of the Jiulong River.

We will overnite at Xinduqiao again. We will be taken for another photography shooting location to capture the setting sun-ray at this paradise of photographers’ valley.

Dinner & Overnite in Xinduqiao.

Hotel : Xinduqiao. ( local best hotel)
DAY 09 26Oct Monday XINDUQIAO – Tagong / Bamei – DANBA (B/L/D)

Early morning enjoy the sun rise over Mt Gongga from the hotel.

After breakfast, we will begin an interesting journey to Danba via Tagong and Bamei with enroute stop at Tagong grassland & the Tagong Monastery, optional for any tour members to enter inside the temple on your own (a small fee is payable at the entrance of the temple).

At about 3700m, the Tagong Grassland is a vast expanse of meadow lying beneath the sacred Yala Mountain, and is landmarked by the famous Tagong Lamasery and the golden tower built to commemorate the living Buddha, Panchan. The green meadow surrounded by snow-capped peaks and dotted with Tibetan herdsmen and tents.

Tagong is a very wild-west kind of Khampa town, with Tagong village, Tagong Monastery (Lhagong temple), Tagong Pagoda Stupa, Yala Snow-capped Mountain, etc.

We will spend some time here and enjoy our lunch at this wild-wild west town.

As we moved on along, we will cross the famous holy mountain of Yala before arriving Danba.

Enjoy our evening at the Beauty of Valley – Danba, a charming mountain valley.

Hotel: 318 Chain hotel, Danba
Danba lies in a valley 350km west of Chengdu along the east border of Ganzi, halfway between Kangding and Ma’erkang from south to north. Danba’s landscape varies vertically from the high-altitude snow-capped mountains to the low-altitude grasslands and valleys. The population is principally composed of ethnic Tibetans.

Rated as the ‘Most beautiful Village in China’ by Chinese National Geographic in 2005. Recognized as “the Kingdom of Watchtowers” and “Beauty Valley”, Danba is well-known for the spectacular watchtower groups, the representative Tibetan villages and the pretty Tibetan ladies.

Of all the Danba villages, each with their own special charm. Jiaju (甲居), 7km northwest of Danba, stands out as probably the most picturesque. About 150 families live in the solid stone homes with colorful painted woodwork scattered across the hilltops. Tourist money has fixed up this community, but the setting is undeniably gorgeous.

The best place to see stone Qiang watchtower is at Suopo (梭坡), about 5km east of town. Another village is Zhonglu. Road leading to Suopo & Zhonglu can only be accessible by smaller vehicle like local car or “mianbaoche”. In this trip, we shall visit & enjoy a local meal at Jiaju Village and Suopo from the View Point and if time permit, a photo-stop view of Zhonglu.

The 2015 Danba Gyarong Folk & Beauty Festival

In Danba, the girl is very pretty and every 3 years, holds a Folk & Beauty Festival. It shows the long history and culture of Tibetan nationality in Danba and also presents its’ peculiar natural beauty through out this festival, normally of 3 days. The 2015 Danba Gyarong Folk & Beauty Festival is scheduled from 25Oct – 30Oct 2015. And if we are lucky, this tour will be able to cover an attendance to one of their events.

Some relevant info:

1) MAP – not-to-scale

2) Long Distance & high altitude & the weather

Some precautions are necessary in consideration of the altitude – there is a risk of altitude sickness, and additionally, due to the significant diurnal temperature variation and strong UV radiation, both thermal clothing and sunscreen are essential.

Note: Long driving between points of attraction is necessary and may be delayed due to road and other local conditions. We may require to endure non-stop coach journeys of anything between 4 to 6 hours but the silver lining is we will be rewarded with great sights and sceneries along the way. Please do not worry too much about the “altitude sickness” as the long overland tour may give us sufficient time to be acclimatized and at the same time, it is advisable to seek your regular GP or Pharmacy for some high altitude medication weeks before the trip as most medications are supposed to be taken 3 days before the trip and to be continuously to be taken through - out the trip until the last 3 days of the trip.
